

Reflections: Poetic Inquiries into Life

By: Mohammed Rayaan Pasha

Life, oh life, a question in my soul,
Is it success, or making others whole?
Who has the right to define our way?
In this complex world, where we all sway?

Amid countless faiths, which to embrace,
To choose just one, a puzzling chase.
Is it perception, the truth we hold dear,
Though at times, it's clouded by fear?

From dreams that sparkle in the night,
To sleepless hours in the dim moonlight,
Life, what are you, a relentless fight,
In this journey, seeking meaning's light?
