

Syntax & Stocks

By: Mohammed Rayaan Pasha

In the realm of code, where logic did dwell,
Semicolons marked tales that I could tell,
With loops and arrays, my passion took flight,
In programming's kingdom, I found my light.

But lo, a change like the turning of a page,
Economics' allure, a new chapter's stage,
Inflation's murmur and interest's dance,
Became the themes of my life's romance.

From code's syntax, to markets' ebb and flow,
I ventured onward, letting my spirit grow,
A transformation, reminiscent of the Bard's style,
Married these worlds, where I found a smile.

"From lines of code to economic chart's gleam,
I traverse these realms, as in a Shakespearean dream.
In the script of life, I play my part,
A programmer's soul, an economist's heart."
